

REV. WALTER GAY SUES HARTFORD CHURCH. Claims Salary of $210 Is Due Him Under Agreement.

The suit of the Rev. Walter Gay, pastor of Grace Memorial Baptist church in this city, formerly pastor of the Union (colored) Baptist church, Hartford, to recover $210, which he claims is due him from the church as the amount allowed him under the customary three months' notice agreement, which he claims was in force at the church when he resigned, owing to the action of the church members, last April, was begun before Judge Coats and a jury Wednesday morning in the court of common pleas at Hartford.

Joseph L. Barbour is attorney for Mr. Gay, and he is opposed by John W. Coogan, who represents the church. Most of the morning was spent in arguments between the attorneys as to the admission of portions of evidence and the rulings of Judge Coats excluded most of the sensational features which are supposed to be connected with the case in connection with the resignation of Mr. Gay.

The complaint alleges that Mr. Gay became pastor of the church in 1906, and that in July, 1909, his salary of $720 a year was raised to $840 a year. The trouble between the church and its pastor occurred in the following April, and Mr. Gay alleges that he was forced to resign without notice and that the rules of the church require that he should have three months. He claims the amount due for this time. The case was not finished Wednesday.

Has Been to Mexico.

William T. Buckley is at his home in this city for a short visit. He has just returned from a trip of thirty days to Mexico and Cuba for a specialty company at Buffalo, N. Y., where he is employed and has been located for the past two years. He is export manager of the large company. All but a week was passed in Mexico, and 200 shots were fired at one train on which he was a passenger. He says that many of the stories about the Mexican trouble are greatly exaggerated. He says that American trade in Mexico is good.

Hospital Addition Progressing.

On the three story addition to the Backus hospital all the exterior work has now been completed, so that the scaffolding was removed this week. Plastering was begun on Wednesday, having been delayed somewhat while waiting for the plumbing to be finished, but this has now been done and the interior fitting can be proceeded with throughout.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Socialism Will Destroy the Home.

Mr. Editor: This is one of the charges often brought against socialism by people who do not really understand what socialism is; but this is nevertheless true with regard to certain kinds of homes. Where socialism has the power, as in Milwaukee, and many cities in Europe, it is already destroying the old, worn-out, vermin infested, damp, dark and dirty tenements that have been called homes by many of the working class, in the cities, and the shacks that were called homes by the workers in the mills, mines and other industries; and putting in their places clean, dry, light and airy dwellings; and selling or renting them to the workers at cost. Socialism is also destroying the homes or dens of the robbers and grafters; and as fast as socialism has the power it will destroy the dens of the gamblers and food speculators, in Wall street, and every other street where such dens exist. And the dens where our food is adulterated and poisoned, and all the homes or dens where poisonous alcoholic beverages are made and sold. And it will destroy all the dives of prostitution, and the dens of the white slave traffic. This it will do by making conditions better for the working class, by placing women on an equality with men, giving them all the political rights that men have, and paying them the same wages that men are paid for the same work; by furnishing employment for all who want work, reducing the working hours and paying them good wages. By doing away with child labor and by improving and extending the school system so that every child of school age can be accommodated.

These things and many others in the same line will be done, and are now being done, by the socialists; and it is easy to see that under these conditions young people will naturally marry and make homes such as the world needs, and such as socialism will foster, but never destroy.

Advice to Mothers

Have you had baby's photograph taken? It's an art to take baby's photograph as it should be taken. To catch his roguish little smile, his pretty little dimple. Such photographs become prized remembrances of babyhood's days in years to come. We have had years of experience in photographing children. They always look their best when we take them. No troublesome posing. Snap them in a jiffy.

TELLS OF HIS TRIP TO PERU

Luther K. Zabriskie Found Sail a Long One but Finds Everything to His Liking.

Friends of Luther K. Zabriskie of this city, who recently entered the American consular service, have been receiving postals from him telling of the delightful country he is located in, being at the American consulate general at Callao, Peru. Writing to friends of his trip and location, he says:

Here I am, at last, in the land of Peru. The entire trip to this far-distant country was exceedingly pleasant, but was much longer than I had thought, and at times was a bit wearisome, especially when the steamer would stop at some uninteresting port for a considerable time. I saw much that I had never seen before, enjoyed good company all the way down here, and, all told, had an interesting experience. The sea voyage from New York to Colon was rather rough, but from Panama to Callao it was simply fine. We saw a number of sharks, flying fish, porpoises and a large number of birds that are peculiar to this country. We were able to see San Salvador, and made a stop at Kingston, Jamaica. This was a perfect paradise, with its profusion of green shrubbery and beautiful flowers, its magnificent coconut palms and banana trees and the lovely sunshine. I was often reminded of Hot Springs, Ark., during my stay there. The people there are very poor, and are mostly made up of the negro class. This is an English province, so English and Spanish are both spoken. Conditions at Colon and Panama are similar to those in Kingston. I had a splendid opportunity to see the work on the proposed canal, and it is simply wonderful. I thoroughly enjoyed my trip across the isthmus. Coming down on the Pacific coast we made stops at five Peruvian ports, where we took on several passengers and a large amount of freight. Every one of these places were barren and desert like, without a show of vegetation, and did not offer a very inviting appearance. I was thankful to learn that Callao was different. We reached Callao Wednesday morning, and after going through the custom house inspection I at once made my way to the American consulate.

I was given a most cordial reception by the consul general and his several assistants and I know that I will like them all. I entered upon my official duties Thursday morning. This work, of course, is all new to me, but I feel confident that I shall like it. Everyone in the office seems to be anxious to help me in every way, and already I am looking forward to a thoroughly enjoyable experience in this place. The consul general had made partial arrangements for a room and table board for me with a splendid English family. The treatment I receive there is A No. 1. The price I have to pay is A No. 1 also—$35 per month. But living and everything else is unusually high in this place, and I am perfectly satisfied.

It would take me a long time to tell you all there is to tell about this place. I will simply say at this time that I am perfectly delighted with most everything I have seen. The city proper is a fair sort of place. The ocean is on both sides, and at night, as I lie in bed, the sound of the waves is as sweet music to my ears. There is splendid bathing the year around, and last night I went out with the vice consul general and enjoyed a fine swim. Lima is only a short distance away, and it costs but ten cents to go there by trolley. I have already been there twice. It is a delightful spot, and the country between is beyond all description, with its beautiful flowers and various shade and fruit trees, its charming fields of corn, in every stage of growth, alfalfa, garden products of almost every description, and, in the distance, forming, as it were, a background for the picture, a long line of snow-capped mountains. It is sun-shiny and warm, but not too hot, and all I can compare it all to is our "knee-deep in June" time, when everybody feels happy and gay and that life is a beautiful thing after all.

TAFT SENDS LETTER TO BOOKER WASHINGTON

Expresses Sympathy and Confidence in Negro's Morality.

New York, March 22.—Booker T. Washington, the negro educator, on whose complaint Henry A. Ulrich was held under $500 bail yesterday for trial on a charge of simple assault, was still at the Hotel Manhattan today, recovering from the effects of the injuries he sustained when attacked on Sunday night at No. 11-12 West Sixty-third street. He received this letter from President Taft in the president's own handwriting:

"The White House, Washington, March 21, 1911.
"My Dear Dr. Washington: I am greatly distressed at your misfortune, and I hasten to write you of my sympathy, my hope that you will soon recover from the wounds inflicted by insidious suspicion or viciousness, and of my confidence in you, in your integrity and morality of character, and in your highest usefulness to your race and to all the people of this country.
"It would be a nation's loss if this untoward incident in any way impaired your great power for good in the solution of one of the most difficult problems before us.
"I want you to know that your friends are standing by you in every trial, and that I am proud to subscribe myself as one."

OBITUARY.

Thomas T. Williams.

New York, March 22.—Thomas T. Williams, a widely known newspaper business manager, died tonight in his rooms in the Hotel Gotham from erysipelas resulting from a heavy cold. Mr. Williams, who was 56 years old, had been connected in an executive capacity with the Hearst newspapers since the late Senator Hearst owned the San Francisco Examiner. In late years he had conducted a part of the Hearst business policies from the New York office.
